

Dr. E. Curt Fields

Dr. Fields is a Living Historian and has portrayed General and President Ulysses S. Grant in 24 states as he travels the nation presenting Mr. Grant. He researches and reads extensively about Grant to deliver an accurate persona of Ulysses S. Grant as General (1861-1869) or President (1869-1885).

Presentations are in first person, quoting from General Grant's Memoirs, articles, letters and statements the General wrote, interviews he gave and first-person accounts of people who knew the General or witnessed him during events. Being the same height and body style as General Grant, he puts before the audience a convincing, true-to-life image of the man as he really looked.

In the 21st century, Curt is a retired secondary school administrator and college instructor. He also has a background in law-enforcement, having served as a Memphis TN police officer and hostage negotiator.

He is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the CWRT Congress.
